Thanks to the outstanding generosity and support of several of Learning through Landscapes' long-term suppliers and collaborators, we are delighted to offer a range of over 70 quality prizes in a free prize draw, open to all schools returning a full copy of the 2026 survey. We hope this draw will encourage schools to spend 20 minutes completing the survey, helping measure the impact and importance of school grounds across England, Northern Ireland and Wales. Please opt in at the end of the survey to be entered. The prizes are worth a collective total of almost £6500.

Prizes will be sent out directly to winning schools from suppliers in January 2027.

Based in Sheffield, Muddy Faces supply a huge range of outdoor learning and play equipment to school and individuals across the UK and beyond. They are offering one prize worth almost £1650 – a Massive Outdoor Block Set with 100+ pieces.

https://muddyfaces.co.uk/shop/products/massive-outdoor-block-set

Community Playthings believes in the importance of childhood. Offering UK-manufactured, quality designs, sourced with integrity. Every product comes with a 15-year guarantee, free delivery, and ongoing customer support. They have kindly donated a £1200 Outlast Intro Set to support our research project.

https://www.communityplaythings.co.uk/products/outdoor/outdoor-blocks/outlast-school-intro-set?v=W387

Outdoor Learning Resources have supplied hundreds of schools and nurseries with thoughtful outdoor learning and play equipment through Learning through Landscapes' Local Schools Nature Grants project. Their products are hand selected for quality and value, and tested by their team, who have real world experience of delivering education outdoors.

They're generously offering two prizes; class-sized den building kits, worth £200 each.

https://outdoorlearningresources.co.uk/products/den-building-with-groups-kit

A certified B Corp, Muddy Puddles supply quality waterproof clothing, including footwear, to schools and nurseries across the UK and beyond. Muddy Puddles are generously offering one prize of ten pairs of wellies, and a further prize of ten waterproof sets including coats and trousers. They offer discounts of up to 25% for schools and nurseries.

https://muddypuddles.com/collections/schools

Seedball have been producing quality seedballs since 2013, as part of their mission to inspire more people to grow native wildflowers to increase bee, butterfly and garden wildlife populations.

Thanks to Seedball, twenty lucky schools will receive a Make Your Own Seedball kit, worth £15 each.

https://seedball.co.uk/product/make-your-own/

Cosy Direct promote a natural, engaged and active childhood by supplying sustainable nursery and educational equipment worldwide. With thousands of products in the catalogue, items are robust, built to last and most of all, fun to play with!

Cosy have generously offered a set of 4 recycled tyres and wooden toppers to one lucky school:

https://www.cosydirect.com/tyre-topper-bouncer-set-of-4-53967

Thanks to Wild View Cameras, one school will receive a Browning trail camera set, including everything needed to get started with observing wildlife in their grounds.

https://www.wildviewcameras.co.uk/product/browning-strike-force-fhdr40

Based in Wiltshire, Wild View Cameras offer free advice and support, as well as a quality range of trail cameras, hedgehog boxes, binoculars and more.

LtL's friends at UK charity Garden Organic work with sectors including education, healthcare, local authorities, Public Health, NHS, housing associations, businesses and community groups, to support the creation of growing spaces and gardens. They are offering a Get Growing Kit to one school.

https://www.gardenorganic.org.uk/who-we-are

Finally, Learning through Landscapes are ourselves pledging 25 copies of our bestselling Teaching the Primary Curriculum Outdoors book, plus 25 Premium Memberships worth £50 each.

https://ltl.org.uk/become-a-member/

